GLOBAL MARKETS & ECONOMIES | WEEKLY ECONOMIC INDICATORS | CURRENCIES | PRECIOUS METAL | O I L |

GLOBAL ECONOMIES	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• China's factory-gate inflation picked up for the first time in nine months in March, lifted by price rises in global commodities as well as signs that government efforts to boost the economy may be putting a floor under domestic demand.• The United States and China have largely agreed on a mechanism to police any trade agreement they reach, including establishing new "enforcement offices," U.S. Treasury Secretary Steven Mnuchin said on Wednesday.• The European Central Bank is "ready to adjust all its instruments" to ensure inflation gets closer to the ECB's inflation goal in a sustainable way, ECB governing council member Bostjan Vasle said on Thursday.• European Union countries provisionally agreed the start of formal trade negotiations with the United States on Thursday, EU sources said, a move designed but not guaranteed to smooth strained relations between the world's two largest economies.• The number of Americans filing applications for unemployment benefits dropped to a 49-1/2-year low last week, pointing to sustained labor market strength that could assuage fears the economy was rapidly losing momentum. Other data on Thursday showed producer prices increased by the most in five months in March amid a surge in the cost of gasoline.
GLOBAL MARKETS	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• A gauge of global equity markets slid on Thursday as investors waited for first-quarter earnings reports, while Treasury yields rose after strong U.S. data and a six-month extension of a deadline for Britain to leave the European Union.• The dollar index rose as worries about the world's largest economy eased after U.S. data showed March producer prices increased by the most in five months and weekly jobless claims fell to the lowest since 1969.• The data followed a decision by EU leaders to push the Brexit deadline to Oct. 31 so that Britain would not crash out of the bloc on Friday without a treaty - though it offered scant clarity on when, how or if departure will happen.
FOREX	The dollar strengthened against a basket of currencies on Thursday on encouraging U.S. inflation and labor data, while sterling weakened after the European Union allowed Britain to postpone its exit from the bloc for a second time. The euro remained under pressure a day after European Central Bank President Mario Draghi made glum comments on the euro-zone economy. First-time filings for U.S. jobless benefits dropped to a 49-1/2-year low last week, pointing to sustained labor market strength that could counter fears of a sharp slowdown in U.S. economic growth. Overall producer prices grew 0.6% in March, the most in five months, while the underlying wholesale inflation rose by a milder 0.3%. A few Federal Reserve policymakers, in separate comments on Thursday, indicated that current interest rates were appropriate. A couple expressed concerns about the recent inversion of the U.S. yield curve as an omen for a slowdown. In late U.S. trading, an index that tracks the dollar versus a basket of currencies was up 0.21% at 97.153. The dollar index has held in a tight 0.5-point range this week. The euro fell in the aftermath of Draghi's comments on Wednesday, which underscored the risks facing the euro zone economy and supported the view of possibly more ECB stimulus to prevent the region from slipping into recession. The single currency was 0.13% lower at $1.12595 but was up 0.46% at 125.7 yen. Sterling was 0.24% weaker at $1.3057 and 0.15% lower at 86.23 pence. EU leaders late Wednesday extended the deadline for Britain to leave the economic bloc, quelling concerns of an immediate, chaotic departure. The move was offset by the prospects of UK Prime Minister Theresa May's replacement, a general election and the threat to the UK economy of prolonged uncertainty.
GOLD	Gold prices fell more than 1% on Thursday, slipping below the key $1,300 level, as robust economic data from the United States boosted the dollar, taking the sheen off the safe-haven

	metal. Spot gold was down 1.3% to $1,290.34 per ounce as of 1:55 p.m. EDT (1755 GMT). U.S. gold futures settled 1.6% lower at $1,293.3. The U.S. dollar index, which measures the currency against a basket of six rivals, rose following reports that March producer prices posted the biggest rise in five months, and after weekly jobless claims fell to the lowest since 1969. A strong U.S. dollar makes gold costlier for investors holding other currencies. Meanwhile, European Union leaders gave Britain another six months to leave the bloc and analysts said the move made gold look unattractive. Gold's break below $1,300 will be seen as a negative bias in charts used by technical traders, analysts and traders said. Dovish views from major central banks on Wednesday failed to help gold as it was already priced into the markets, analysts said, adding investors were looking for more catalysts to buy gold. Lower interest rates reduce the opportunity cost of holding non-yielding bullion. The U.S. Federal Reserve's minutes restated its view on the risks of a global economic slowdown, while the European Central Bank kept its ultra-easy monetary policy unchanged. Spot platinum was down 1.2% at $890.34 per ounce. Palladium shed 2% at $1,360.38 per ounce, while silver slipped 1.9% to $14.92.
OIL	Oil prices fell on Thursday after sources said OPEC may raise output from July if Venezuelan and Iranian supplies fall further and prices keep rallying. Rising U.S. crude stockpiles also dragged U.S. futures down by more than $1 a barrel. West Texas Intermediate (WTI) crude fell $1.03 to settle at $63.58 a barrel. Global benchmark Brent settled at $70.83 a barrel, down 90 cents. The Organization of the Petroleum Exporting Countries may raise oil output from July if Venezuelan and Iranian supply drops further and prices keep rallying, because extending production cuts with Russia and other allies could overtighten the market, sources familiar with the matter said. Venezuelan crude production has dropped below 1 million barrels per day (bpd) due to U.S. sanctions, the International Energy Agency said on Thursday, even below the 960,000 bpd OPEC reported on Wednesday. Iranian supply could fall further after May if, as many expect, Washington tightens its sanctions against Tehran. OPEC and its allies led by Russia are due to meet in Vienna on June 25-26 to set their policy. Overall output from OPEC, which has agreed with allies to withhold 1.2 million bpd of crude from the market since the start of 2019, fell 550,000 bpd in March to 30.1 million bpd, the IEA said. The agency, which coordinates the energy policies of developed nations, saw oil stocks in industrialised countries fall in February by 21.7 million barrels, putting inventories 16 million barrels above their five-year average. Market concerns that OPEC could increase output compounded worries that U.S. crude production is rising. U.S. crude inventories surged by 7 million barrels to a 17-month high of 456.6 million barrels last week, the Energy Information Administration said on Wednesday. U.S. crude oil production remained at a record 12.2 million bpd, making the United States the world's biggest oil producer ahead of Russia and Saudi Arabia. U.S. West Texas Intermediate crude at Midland on Thursday traded at the biggest discount to futures in almost four months after Phillips 66 closed a unit for maintenance at its Borger, Texas refinery, adding to a backlog of barrels as production climbs.
