GLOBAL STOCK INDEX

DJIA	U.S. stocks on Monday stepped back from last week’s record highs as investors took a breather ahead of an expected interest rate cut by the Federal Reserve and looked for signs of progress from U.S.-China trade negotiations underway in Shanghai. Amazon.com Inc and Facebook Inc weighed heaviest on the S&P 500 and the Nasdaq, which both closed lower. The blue-chip Dow closed in the black, led by 3M Co, Johnson & Johnson and Apple Inc. Market participants girded themselves for an eventful week, with the FOMC meeting, U.S.-China trade talks and nearly a third of the companies in the S&P 500 due to post second-quarter results. The Fed, watchful of languid inflation and signs of economic softness arising from tariff disputes, is expected to lower interest rates for the first time in a decade at the conclusion of its two-day monetary policy meeting starting on Tuesday. U.S. negotiators are meeting their Chinese counterparts in Shanghai this week to try to find a path toward resolving the long-running, market-rattling trade dispute between the world’s two largest economies. Trade uncertainty has “provided a back drop that’s made it difficult for business managers,” said Ripley, adding that the talks are “better than complete silence.” The Dow Jones Industrial Average rose 28.9 points, or 0.11%, to 27,221.35, the S&P 500 lost 4.89 points, or 0.16%, to 3,020.97 and the Nasdaq Composite dropped 36.88 points, or 0.44%, to 8,293.33. Seven of the 11 major sectors in the S&P 500 closed in the red, with financials and consumer discretionary seeing largest percentage losses.
Nikkei	Japanese stocks fell on Monday on profit-taking in otherwise subdued trading, as investors showed caution ahead of corporate earnings reports and policy decisions from the Bank of Japan and U.S. Federal Reserve later this week. The benchmark Nikkei share average dropped 0.2% to 21,616.80, to pull further back from a 2-1/2-month high hit on Thursday, despite positive cues from Wall Street. [ Profit taking hit Japanese suppliers of electronic parts to China’s Huawei. Murata Manufacturing shed 2.0%, TDK Corp slipped 1.7% and Taiyo Yuden Co dipped 2.0%. These shares had benefited last week on word that U.S.-China trade talks were resuming, but they lost their bounce on Monday as expectations were low for any breakthrough during the talks between negotiators in Shanghai. Keyence Corp slumped 4.4% after the factory automation products maker’s operating profit for the April-June quarter fell by 15% from a year earlier. Tokyo Electron dropped 0.8% after the chip-making gear supplier said its operating profit for April-June fell 41% year-on-year, a much bigger fall than the analyst consensus, after the market close on Friday. Bucking the overall weakness, Nikkei heavyweight SoftBank Group Corp jumped 3.9% after the U.S. Justice Department said T-Mobile won an antitrust approval for its $26 billion merger of rival Sprint Corp. Also, SBG’s chief executive Masayoshi Son said on Monday that the company will invest $2 billion in ride-hailing app Grab. The broader Topix edged down 0.2% to 1,568.57. Turnover on the Tokyo Stock Exchange’s main board was subdued at 1.74 trillion yen ($16.0 billion) versus the daily average of 2.33 trillion yen over the past year. Japan’s April-June quarter corporate earnings season gets into full swing this week, with Fanuc Corp, Komatsu and Hitachi announcing results after the market close on Monday, while Murata Manufacturing and Toyota Motor’s results were due on Wednesday and Friday, respectively. The Bank of Japan is expected to keep its massive stimulus programme unchanged at the end of a two-day meeting on Tuesday, while the U.S. Federal Reserve is widely expected to cut interest rates later this week. ($1 = 108.6400 yen)
Kospi	South Korean shares shed nearly 2% on Monday, as tensions with Japan added more pressure on the export-dependent economy already reeling from weak global demand and the U.S.-China tariff war. The Seoul stock market’s main KOSPI index stumbled 1.78% to 2,029.40 points, closing at its lowest since late May. The junior KOSDAQ index closed down 4%. Chipmakers Samsung Electronics fell 2.2%, while SK Hynix slumped 3.5%. Japan said earlier this month it would tighten restrictions on exports of high-tech materials used for making memory chips and display panels to South Korea. South Korea’s exports are expected to contract for the eighth straight month as a trade rift with Japan drags on the economy, according to analysts polled by Reuters. U.S. and Chinese trade negotiators will meet in Shanghai this week for their first in-person talks since a

Hang Seng & Shanghai

G20 truce last month. However, expectations were low for a breakthrough with U.S. President Donald Trump offering a pessimistic view on reaching a trade deal with China.

Shares of Ssangyong Motor and furniture maker Hanssem plunged after the firms posted weak second-quarter results. Ssangyong, owned by India’s Mahindra and Mahindra, closed down 8%, while Hanssem shares shrank 16%.

South Korea’s central bank delivered a surprise interest rate cut in July to counter deteriorating economic conditions and the U.S. Federal Reserves is broadly expected to cut its benchmark rate by a quarter point at its July 30-31 meeting.

➤ Hong Kong stocks ended lower on Monday, led by declines in property firms amid an increasing cycle of violence in the city, while investors counted down to a likely cut in U.S. interest rates this week. The Hang Seng index was down 1% at 28,106.41 points, while the China Enterprises Index lost 0.7% to 10,780.59 points.

Protests in Hong Kong over the past two months spearheaded by anti-government activists against a proposed bill that would allow people to be extradited from the city to stand trial in courts in mainland China have grown increasingly violent.

Developers led the decline, with the Hang Seng properties index slumping 2.2%.

➤ China stocks slipped in thin trading on Monday as investors held low expectations that U.S. and Chinese negotiators meeting in Shanghai will bring a swift end to a damaging tariff war and soft data has fuelled concerns over an economic slowdown.

The blue-chip CSI300 index fell 0.1%, to 3,854.27 points, while the Shanghai Composite Index also shed 0.1% to 2,941.01 points.

China’s industrial profits have been softening since the second half of 2018 as the economy slowed and the U.S.-China trade dispute escalated, with many industrial firms putting off business decisions and scaling back manufacturing investment.

U.S. and Chinese trade negotiators will meet in Shanghai this week for their first in-person talks since a G20 truce last month, but expectations are low for a breakthrough.

Investors were cautious as they counted down to a likely cut in U.S. interest rates this week with much riding on whether or not the Federal Reserve signals are in the pipeline.

Chances are small for China to follow suit if the Fed does cut rates, said Pan Jing, analyst with Great Wall Securities.

Stocks rally across the board on China’s newly launched Nasdaq-style STAR Market.

All 25 STAR-listed firms posted gains, led by Beijing Worldia Diamond Tools, which surged the maximum allowed 20% to a record high.

Allowing good “money-making effect” on the STAR Market in its initial stage will be a focus of Beijing’s policies, while preventing a slump in the main board will also be one of the government’s targets to maintain stability (in the markets), Tebon Securities noted in report.
