GLOBAL STOCK INDEX

|--|--|
| DJIA | The three major U.S. stock indexes posted record closing highs and the S&P 500 registered a fifth straight week of gains on Friday as investors brushed aside worries over the progress of U.S.-China trade talks and as Walt Disney shares rose. Doubts about trade progress resurfaced earlier in the day when President Donald Trump, in remarks to reporters at the White House, said he has not agreed to a rollback of U.S. tariffs sought by China. On Thursday, officials from both countries said that the United States and China had agreed to such a deal. Tim Ghriskey, chief investment strategist at Inverness Counsel in New York, said that while the market was initially volatile because of Trump's remarks, it climbed right back. The Cboe volatility index .VIX posted its lowest closing level since July 24. Helping to boost the S&P 500, Walt Disney Co gained 3.8% a day after it reported quarterly results that showed it spent less than it had projected on its online streaming service, Disney+. Disney's popular theme parks and a remake of "The Lion King" lifted earnings. The Dow Jones Industrial Average rose 6.44 points, or 0.02%, to 27,681.24, the S&P 500 gained 7.9 points, or 0.26%, to 3,093.08 and the Nasdaq Composite added 40.80 points, or 0.48%, to 8,475.31. For the week, the S&P 500 rose 0.8%, posting a fifth straight week of gains, while the Nasdaq gained 1.1%, closing out its sixth straight week of gains. The Dow was up 1.2% for the week. Increasing optimism on the trade front and mostly better-than-expected earnings have driven the recent record run in stocks. Of the 446 S&P 500 companies that have reported results so far, roughly three-quarters have beaten profit estimates, according to IBES data from Refinitiv. The numbers, to some extent, reflect significantly lowered analysts' forecasts. |
| Nikkei | Tokyo stocks closed higher for a fourth straight session on Friday, extending rallies on Wall Street on hopes of a China-US trade deal. The benchmark Nikkei 225 index rose 0.26 per cent or 61.55 points to end at 23,391.87. Over the week, it jumped 2.37 per cent. The broader Topix index was up 0.27 per cent or 4.64 points at 1,702.77, a weekly gain of 2.18 per cent. China and the United States have agreed a plan to remove tariffs imposed on two-way goods in stages, the commerce ministry said Thursday after the close of the Japanese market, as negotiators try to hammer out a trade deal. Global investors welcomed the Chinese statements, with the US Dow and S&P 500 finishing at fresh records. In Tokyo trading, banks were among the winners with Mitsubishi UFJ Financial gaining 1.56 per cent to 590.5 yen and Sumitomo Mitsui Financial 1.38 per cent to 4,015 yen. Automakers were also higher with Honda rising 1.92 per cent to 3,072 yen. Following the closing bell, the company said its net profit plunged 19.0 per cent due to negative currency exchange rate and declining sales. Toyota jumped 2.18 per cent to 7,905 yen while Mitsubishi Motors climbed 2.03 per cent to 502 yen |
| Kospi | South Korean shares ended a six-session winning streak on Friday on worries that an interim Sino-US trade deal to cancel existing tariffs faced opposition from White House officials. China and the United States have agreed to roll back tariffs on each others' goods in a "phase one" trade deal if it is completed, officials from both sides said on Thursday. However, the optimism retreated after Reuters reported that an agreement to roll back existing tariffs as part of a "phase one" trade deal faced fierce internal opposition in the White House and from outside advisers. The Seoul stock market's main KOSPI closed down 7.06 points, or 0.33 per cent, at 2,137.23. For the week, the index gained 1.76 per cent, marking its fifth straight week of gains. The KOSPI has risen 4.71 per cent so far this year, and gained 2.1 per cent in the previous 30 trading sessions. The trading volume during the session in the KOSPI index was 564.85 million shares and, of the total traded issues of 904, the number of advancing shares was 490. |
| Hang Seng & Shanghai | ➤ Hong Kong stocks fell on Friday after reports some U.S. officials disagreed with scrapping tariffs on Chinese goods to seal a trade agreement with Beijing, denting optimism that had lifted the local market for much of the week. At the close of trade, the Hang Seng index was down 0.7% at 27,651.14. The Hang Seng China Enterprises index fell 0.5%. But the Hang Seng index was up 2% from the previous week due to the optimism earlier in the week of a U.S.-China interim trade deal, its largest weekly gains in eight weeks. The sub-index of the Hang Seng tracking energy shares rose 0.5%, the IT sector dipped 2.1%, the financial sector ended 0.6% lower and the property sector lost 1.1%. Multiple sources told |

Reuters on Thursday the plan to cancel tariffs faces fierce internal opposition in the White House and from outside advisers. The Hong Kong market gave up much of its advance made on Thursday, when U.S. and Chinese officials said the two countries will roll back tariffs on each others' goods in a "phase one" trade deal if it is completed. Data on Friday showed China's exports and imports contracted less than expected in October, providing some relief for the export-reliant economy. A student at a Hong Kong university who had fallen during protests over the weekend died on Friday, the first student death in months of anti-government demonstrations in the Chinese-ruled city that is likely to be a trigger for fresh unrest.

➤ China shares reversed gains to end lower on Friday as a Reuters report suggesting White House officials opposed rolling back tariffs on Beijing raised uncertainty around the first phase of a trade deal. The Shanghai Composite index closed down 0.5% at 2,964.18, the lowest close since November 1. The index inched up 0.2% from the previous week. The blue-chip CSI300 index was also down 0.5% on Friday, but gained 0.5% for the week. CSI300's financial sector sub-index fell 1%, the consumer staples sector lost 0.2% and the real estate index was down 0.8%. The smaller Shenzhen index ended down 0.2% and the start-up board ChiNext Composite index was weaker by 0.3%. Shares were pressured as multiple sources told Reuters on Thursday the plan to cancel tariffs faces fierce internal opposition in the White House and from outside advisers. On Thursday, U.S. and Chinese officials said the two countries will roll back tariffs on each others' goods in a "phase one" trade deal if it is completed. Stocks had also rebounded briefly in late morning trade after data showed China's exports and imports contracted less than expected in October, providing some relief for the export-reliant economy.
