GLOBAL STOCK INDEX

DJIA	Wall Street's major indexes resumed their rally with fresh records on Thursday as U.S. Treasury Secretary Steven Mnuchin said an initial U.S.-China trade deal would be signed in early January. The benchmark S&P 500 hit a sixth straight all-time high, its longest streak since January 2018, and the Nasdaq ended with gains for the seventh session in a row. The S&P 500, Nasdaq and the Dow Jones Industrial Average all notched record closing highs. Mnuchin's comments bolstered the optimism that has carried U.S. stocks higher since a trade agreement was announced last week. In an interview with CNBC on Thursday, Mnuchin said the agreement had already been put down on paper and translated, and it would not be subject to renegotiation. The comments relieved some concerns that disagreements between Washington and Beijing could once again keep the trade deal from being finalized, market analysts said. Further boosting optimism around the strength of the U.S. economy and labor market, data on Thursday showed the number of Americans filing applications for unemployment benefits dropping from more than a two-year high last week. The market shrugged off U.S. President Donald Trump's impeachment, as the Republican-controlled Senate is widely expected not to remove him from office. The Dow Jones Industrial Average rose 137.68 points, or 0.49%, to 28,376.96, the S&P 500 gained 14.23 points, or 0.45%, to 3,205.37 and the Nasdaq Composite added 59.48 points, or 0.67%, to 8,887.22. Conagra Brands Inc shares jumped 15.9% after the Slim Jim maker beat quarterly sales and profit estimates. Conagra's results also lifted other packaged food makers and helped the S&P 500 consumer staples index advance 0.6%. Micron Technology Inc shares gained 2.8% after the chipmaker signaled a recovery in its business in 2020 and said it had received licenses to supply some products to Huawei.
Nikkei	Japan's Nikkei share average ended lower on Thursday as profit-taking set in after a recent rally to 14-month highs, while technology conglomerate Hitachi spiked higher on its business portfolio restructuring. The Nikkei share average ended 0.29% weaker at 23,864.85, slipping further from Tuesday's 14-month peak of 14,091.12, while the broader Topix closed 0.13% lower at 1,736.11. Markets showed no reaction to the Bank of Japan's decision to keep its monetary policy on hold. The central bank, as expected, maintained its upbeat view on the economy, suggesting policymakers are in no hurry to boost stimulus even as global risks threaten a fragile recovery. BOJ also gave out some details of a scheme, first announced in April, to lend ETFs it is holding. Many investors were eager to take profits at current levels following gains of almost 20% since a bottom in August on hopes of a cyclical recovery in the global economy, and lately, on relief over a first phase Sino-U.S. trade deal. Data showed foreign investors bought 627.8 billion yen ($5.78 billion) of cash Japanese stocks and futures last week, their largest buying in eight weeks, data from JPX showed. Market players were closely monitoring developments surrounding the impeachment of U.S. President Donald Trump although few expect it to roil markets. Cyclical shares such as securities brokerages and shippers were among the main drags, falling 1.8% and 1%, respectively. On the other hand, Hitachi jumped 4.6% to a nearly two-year high as investors welcomed its business restructuring drive. The company said it would sell its listed chemicals unit, Hitachi Chemical as well as its diagnostic imaging business in deals totalling 673 billion yen ($6.2 billion).
Kospi	South Korean shares trimmed some of their early gains on Thursday, after hitting over seven-month highs, as investors booked profits. Both the Korean won and the benchmark bond yield rose. The Seoul stock market's main Kospi closed up 1.80 points, or 0.08 per cent, at 2,196.56. The index climbed as much as 0.5 per cent to its highest level since May 3 in early trade, driven by a chipmakers' rally. Investors booked profits as the benchmark index approached 2,200, as they saw the level was difficult to retain without strong earnings, said Ryou Yong Seok, an analyst at KB Securities. Donald Trump on Wednesday became the third US president to be impeached as the House of Representatives formally charged him with abuse of power and obstruction of Congress in a historic step that will inflame partisan tensions across a deeply divided America. However as the possibility of Mr Trump's impeachment is seen to be low, market reaction to the vote

	remained muted, Mr Ryo said. Foreigners were net buyers of 257.8 billion won ($297.35 million) worth of shares on the main board.
Hang Seng & Shanghai	➤ Hong Kong shares fell on Thursday as investors booked profits from the recent rally, and as investors wait for fresh data on the state of global growth. The Hang Seng index closed down 83.72 points or 0.3% at 27,800.49. The benchmark has gained over 5.5% this month. The Hang Seng China Enterprises index fell 0.35% to 10,985.89. It is still up 6.64% this month. The sub-index of the Hang Seng tracking energy shares dipped 0.4%, while the IT sector dipped 0.15% and the financial sector ended 0.3% lower. Traders also await a Bank of England (BoE) policy meeting later Thursday. No change in policy is expected, but the meeting could pose further downside risks for sterling if more policymakers swing to the dovish camp and vote for an interest rate cut. ➤ China's benchmark equity market gauge ended flat on Thursday as investors awaited further details on the 'phase one' trade deal between Washington and Beijing. The Shanghai Composite index finished unchanged at 3,017.07. The index has risen more than 5% this month as investors await further details on an interim trade agreement between the United States and China. China's finance ministry published a new list of six U.S. products that will be exempted from tariffs starting Dec. 26. China's blue-chip CSI300 index was down 0.14%, with its financial sector sub-index lower by 0.04%, the consumer staples sector down 0.76%, the real estate index up 0.78% and the healthcare sub-index up 0.12%. The smaller Shenzhen index was up 0.21% and the start-up board ChiNext Composite index was weaker by 0.11%.
